

New £11.5 million fund will help charities and councils support local communities.

Local communities will benefit from a new £11.59 million government fund to help civil society organisations and local authorities work together to deliver support in areas including mental health, adult social care, women's...