

New 2,000 km “deep precision strike” weapon to be developed by UK and Germany as Trinity House Agreement delivers first major milestones

The UK and Germany will confirm for the first time that they will work together to develop a new long-range strike capability with a range of over 2,000 km