

New council of experts to advocate for the creative industries

The Creative Industries Council (CIC) is a key forum that brings together Government and the businesses and trade bodies of the UK's creative industries