

New data and support for law firms to help with land registration

HM Land Registry has started sharing data with its customers that, combined with the free training it offers, can help law firms get applications right first time.