

New deal for young people to end 'degree by default' culture and boost youth apprenticeships

Government promises to deliver a “new deal for young people” with real opportunities to work and renewed social contract where hard work pays off