

New Energy Resilience Strategy to better protect infrastructure

A new government strategy will help safeguard critical energy infrastructure and protect consumers and businesses from costly disruption.