

New era of rail accountability for passengers as performance data goes live at stations

Display screens at stations will help rebuild trust with passengers as we tackle root causes of rail delays and cancellations.