

New government plans to fire up innovation in 5G and 6G as UK and South Korea launch telecoms technology partnership

Mobile phone networks of the future will have more choice of technologies and suppliers, in the latest government boost to delivering more innovative, secure and resilient telecoms networks.