

New international coalition launched to end violence against women and girls globally

A major new global coalition is being launched today (Tuesday 2nd December 2025), bringing together pioneering women from across the world to tackle violence against women and girls.