

New leaflet launched to help communities prepare for flooding

The Environment Agency has launched the first in a series of new support leaflets to help North East communities be better prepared for flooding.