

New measures to boost small businesses benefitting from UK's defence investment

Government announces major support for small and medium enterprises (SMEs) following historic commitment to increase spending on defence.