

New natural history GCSE to grow next generation of green careers

Biodiversity, conservation and human influences on the natural world among the topics of study, as public encouraged to have their say on the new qualification.