

New offence of forcing people to hide objects in their bodies

Children and vulnerable people being criminally exploited by gangs will be better protected under new measures, as part of the government's Plan for Change.