

New permit issued for Beddington energy-from-waste site

Decision follows extensive review and two rounds of public consultation.
Rigorous assessments in place to protect the environment and health