

New prison houseblocks to make streets safer

A Devon jail is set to almost double in size as the Government ploughs ahead with the largest prison building programme since the Victoria era.