

New report reveals how to tackle climate change through nature

The programme used new technology to give unprecedented insight into how we can manage landscapes