

New report shows thousands of farm improvements reducing pollution risks

First Environment Agency Agriculture Report published, providing a national overview of the sector's environmental performance and regulatory outcomes