

New rules on police requesting counselling notes come into force

Victims to be given more privacy with new rules blocking police from requesting counselling notes during investigations unless in exceptional circumstances.