

New strategy sets out future of science and engineering capability across government

A new strategy published today sets out how science and engineering expertise will continue to support decision making across government.