

New super wind turbines with blades three times Angel of the North's wingspan to be tested in Blyth as £86 million unveiled for groundbreaking facility

New funding in wind power research and development will help prevent millions of CO2 emissions and grow the economy.