

New Taser approved for UK police forces to protect public

Police across England and Wales will be able to equip themselves with improved Taser devices to help protect the public and themselves from criminals.