

New tools will help employers maximise AI productivity gains

Skills England report shows what works for AI training and new tools will help employers build the AI skills their workforce needs.