

News story: Bird flu – Latest media updates: All poultry and captive birds must now be housed until further notice

All bird keepers must now house their birds until further notice to keep their birds safe from avian influenza.