

News story: Collaborate to innovate: funding for business-academic projects

Knowledge Transfer Partnerships can make a business more competitive by uniting them with a university or research organisation and a qualified graduate.