News story: Forestry Commission acts on bark beetle tree pest

Two new breeding populations of the tree pest eight-toothed spruce bark beetle (Ips typographus) have been discovered in Kent.