

News story: Government sets out key measures to tackle violence against women and girls

Home Office launches refresh of cross-government violence against women and girls strategy.