

News story: Historic day for the military as all roles are opened to women

Defence Secretary Gavin Williamson has today announced that all roles in the military are now open to women.