

News story: How will we power the UK in the future?

The Government Chief Scientific Adviser begins a series of public talks exploring how we could power the UK in the future.