

News story: Interim general licensing regime for releasing gamebirds

General licence allows an authorised person to release common pheasants and red-legged partridges within European sites and a 500 metre boundary in England.