

News story: Military Aviation Authority (MAA) transformation of the design and airworthiness requirements for service aircraft (Defence Standard 00-970)

As the early pioneers of powered flight discovered, often to their peril, several fundamental aircraft design rules were key to a safe flight.