

News story: Plans set out for two new bathing waters

An area of the River Thames in Oxford and a coastal area in the Isle of Wight have been put forward for bathing water status