

News story: UK and US pilots to prepare for frontline on state-of-the-art simulators

Defence Minister Stuart Andrew has announced that British pilots will be able to undertake simultaneous, virtual exercises with US counterparts based across the Atlantic using new cutting-edge simulation technology.