

News you might have missed

While the Queen's Speech this week exposed a Tory government failing to get on with the day job, the SNP Scottish Government got on with the job of delivering for Scotland.

Here's just some of the news you might have missed from this week.