

North West to benefit from multi-billion-pound rail investment

Major rail plans will unlock North West's economic potential, including a new rail route between Liverpool and Manchester and improved connections across the region.