

Northumberland river users asked to help protect white-clawed crayfish

Dog walkers, canoeists and other river users asked to 'check – clean – dry' to prevent spread of diseases and protect native crayfish populations.