

Operators have permits revoked in waste crack down

The Environment Agency has served revocation notices to the operators of two waste sites that have repeatedly breached permit conditions.