

Over £4 million government backing for next-gen aviation technology projects

Winning projects will help build a greener and more efficient transport system while supporting high-quality jobs across the UK.