

Patients to benefit from improved access to dental appointments

Patients across the country will have better access to NHS dentistry, boosting earlier intervention, prevention and continuity of care.