

Perpetrators of coercive behaviour have sentences increased

Two violent offenders who subjected women to campaigns of abuse have their jail terms increased by Court of Appeal following intervention from Solicitor General