

PM set to reshape how Government works with communities to tackle Britain's biggest challenges

The Prime Minister will launch the Civil Society Covenant – a new way of working that puts people at the heart of government.