

Political campaigning online to be made more transparent under new rules

Online political campaigning is to be made more transparent with proposals launched by the government today.