

Press release: Company director pays cost of staying silent in waste investigation

A man who failed to provide documents in an Environment Agency investigation has been fined.