

Press release: Government fund creates collaborative farming communities

Farmers participating in government-funded groups are creating close-knit, greener communities across England, according to a report published today.