

Press release: Green light for £1 billion trans-Pennine transformation

Options for the transformation of a key northern route, improving connections between the east and west of England were unveiled by Transport Secretary Chris Grayling today.