

Press release: Innovative digital projects to improve public services win funding

Councils awarded almost £1.3 million to find solutions for how digital technology can improve services for the public.