

Press release: New figures show over 127,000 properties protected this winter as Environment Agency prepare communities for more heavy rainfall this weekend

Environment Agency teams continue to work around the clock to protect people and properties from severe flooding.