

Press release: New powers to investigate stillbirths

Bereaved parents who suffer a stillbirth would gain answers from an independent inquest into their baby's death under plans to improve the way such tragedies are investigated.