

Press release: Plan now to avoid drought next summer, National Drought Group told

The latest National Drought Group meeting reiterates expectation that water companies start planning now to manage potentially significant impacts next year.