

Press release: Space tech to fight bowel cancer and exposure to air pollution

New health technologies inspired by working in space will provide real-time diagnosis of bowel cancer and freedom from air pollution.