

Press release: Summer water testing has started at English beaches

The Environment Agency has resumed seasonal water quality testing at more than 400 popular swimming spots.